Vol. XIV, No. 4

Since it had been raining in Toronto practically ever since it stopped snowing, it was no wonder that we thought pessimistically of the weather prospects for Convocation. And yet three more glorious days than we had for the closing festivities could not be imagined. Due to the large number of students graduating from the University, three convocations are held each year on three different days and this year there were two in one day for the Arts students. The students of our School were given their degrees on Thursday, June 5th, along with those of many other faculties, such as Applied Science, Architecture, Commerce, Forestry, Dentistry, Music, Law, Nursing, etc. From the vantage point of a seat with the engineers who promised to eject us if we did not clap for them(!), we saw group after group go up individually to the platform, kneel before Chancellor Cody and be admitted by him to their various degrees. It was interesting to note the comparatively large number of students who evidently came from far countries. One young man in particular, a Mohammedan from India, was striking in his native costume.

"It might be said of you to-day that you are now educated," said President Smith to the graduating classes. "You can never describe anyone as an educated man. It is a continuous and unceasing process". He told the students their diplomas were passes into the storehouse of culture and wisdom, and it is for them to take possession of the heritage they will find therein. Dr. Smith urged them to keep in touch with the University. "Many of you," he said, "have seen railway tickets on which are written the words, 'Not good if detached'. May you never become detached from your University..... You represent the hope of your Alma Mater and you with other men and women who have had similar opportunities, are the hope of mankind."

Following Convocation, the procession of celebrities - Chancellor, President, the Premier of Ontario, the Chairman of the Board of Governors, the heads of schools and departments and all the learned faculty members, including Dr. Ryerson, Miss Jackson and Miss Forster, passed out of the building and, willy-nilly, went down the road towards College Street for the laying of the corner stone of the new Chemistry Building. It was an interesting scene. There were the brightly-robed professors and other dignitaries, the camera men and newsmen, and on the beams above, looking down on the colourful throng, were many workmen. Off to one side there was a man, presumably from one of the papers, sketching Premier Drew. Premier Drew spoke very appropriately, declared the stone well and truly laid, and among other things said, "Here may be unlocked many of the secrets of nature".

The garden party as usual was a homey, informal affair, even more informal than usual this year because there was no receiving line. Happy graduates, the girls charming with their bouquets of lovely flowers, were here, there and everywhere introducing their parents to their fellow-students and their fellow-students' parents. There were the usual presentations by the Student Council and we were glad to see one of our own boys honoured. Colin Cranhan of this year's graduating class, received an Honour Award from the Student Administrative Council for outstanding contribution to the University, as a member of the senior football and basketball teams and of the Athletic Directorate.

To be perfectly frank, the men received all the honours this year, for both the Margaret Eaton gold medal and the Emma Scott Nasmith gold medal were won by men, the former by John A. Thomson of Toronto and the latter by W. F. R. Kennedy of Winnipeg.

The Graduation Dinner was again held at the Old Mill and the food for the body and food for the spirit were both very enjoyable. Arrangements were very efficiently made by Pat Wickham and from her opening speech as toast mistress to the closing speech by Bob McAdam who replied to the toast to the graduating class, everything went with a swing.

Said Pat;

"'Twas the night before Friday, and all through each student's house
Small fry and parents all had a grouse,
Fearing the news the paper might tell--
Hoping, yet hoping, that all would be well.

But early next evening, there arose such a clatter,
Even the neighbours said, "GOSH WHAT'S THE MATTER".
"Twas only the Phys Eds - they'd got their degree,
And parents and students all went on a spree.

The postman's been laden with parcels and cards,
From the friends and relations sending regards---
And I heard him exclaim as he toiled up the street,
"These physical eds are sure hard to beat!"

Ordo Skeeles proposed the toast to the University (and also made the attractive place cards) to which Dr. Ryerson responded. Dr. Ryerson outlined briefly the history of the University, the Department of Physical Education and The Margaret Eaton School from their early beginnings to the present time. In closing, in addition to reminding them of the necessity for having sound health, he urged them to start an Alumni Association of their own with officers who would keep them in touch with one another.

Frank Kennedy proposed the toast to the staff and Dr. Bernhardt replied to it. Among the guests were Mr. and Mr. McMullen. Mr. McMullen, as some of you know, teaches our students public speaking and many were the jokes made at his expense, more or less. Dr. Bernhardt said he was failed in his Public Speaking course, by the man who taught Mr. McMullen all he knows about it! We thought some of you would be interested in that remark because the man to whom he referred was Professor Grieves, who also taught some of the Margaret Eaton graduates all they know about it! Dr. Bernhardt gave the graduating class some excellent advice when he suggested that they should be Masters in the art of living. Some of the outstanding characteristics of a person who obtains this "degree" are dependability, friendliness, citizenship, good sportsmanship, and ability to live happily and efficiently with other people.

Dr. Rae, in a witty speech based on "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass" proposed the toast to the Graduating Class. Through the medium of Alice, Humpty Dumpty, and the two Queens, Dr. Rae also managed to give some advice. For instance the moral in the poem Jabberwocky, with all its funny words, was summed up for him in the popular book by Stuart Chase called "The Tyranny of Words". He recommended this for summer reading. In conclusion, Dr. Rae quoted, with some changes, from the song inviting everybody to the dinner of the queens:

"Then fill up the glasses as quick as you can,
And sprinkle the table with buttons and bran.
Put cats in the coffee and mice in the tea,
And drink to the Grads of P. and H. E.

Then fill up the glasses with treacle and ink,
Or anything else that is pleasant to drink.
Mix sand with the cider and dunk in the Devon,
And drink to the health of Class forty-seven.

Bob McAdam had an embarrassing moment when he realized that instead of proposing the toast to the graduating class as he thought, he was supposed to reply to it, but he rose to the occasion nobly and the banquet closed with the singing of the School Song.

The tea for the graduating class given by the graduates was held in the big room at 44 Hoskin Avenue on Wednesday afternoon, June 4th and was a very pleasant affair. Miss Forster poured tea and a committee of girls, two from each of the four graduating classes 1943-46, looked after the guests. Everyone seemed to find someone he or she (but mostly she) had not seen for a long time and as a result there was much conversation. Among the staff members we noticed were Dr. Ryerson, Miss Jackson, Dr. Quinlan, Dr. Waters, Miss Baxter and Miss van Nostrand.

One event of the spring season that is always anticipated with pleasure is the Annual Margaret Eaton Alumnae Association Luncheon. This year it was held at the Windsor Arms and considering all the conflicting events was well attended. Graduates were there who had not been at a luncheon for years, including a number from out-of-town. Among those who came to Toronto for the luncheon were Mary Barker and Doris Weston, Margaret Davidson Lathrop and Ruth Scott Watt, and Winn MacLennan Johnston. Mrs. Cameron Stewart, who lived in England for many years and has not been at an Alumnae Luncheon for a long time, was an honoured guest. But we missed many familiar faces - Mrs. Burden and Gretta Burden Smith, Miss Hamilton, Miss Thrall, Miss Ross, Charlotte Kaulbach Fierro, and others.

Molly Maw Purchase was the efficient toast mistress and after the toast to the King, she called on everyone to empty their purses and count the contents. The prize for having the greatest number of things in her purse went to Esther Webb. Mary Barker proposed the toast to the School in a well-thought-out speech, in which she linked the three schools together through their mottoes - The Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression, "We strive for the good and the beautiful"; The Margaret Eaton School, "Beauty and Fitness"; and the School of Physical and Health Education as part of the University of Toronto, "Like a tree in growth". Ethel Stevens told something of her work as head of the City Day Nurseries and Irma Moyer Manning gave us glimpses of her life in India, particularly as related to her training at The Margaret Eaton School which she compared to a big Christmas stocking. This always seemed to have in it just what she needed for some particular task. We quote part of Elizabeth Seccombe Turner's report as chairman of the Executive: "The Committee spent many an evening discussing the welfare and possible future of our alumnae. There are a great many angles to be considered - such as the fact that we have no longer a graduating class to add to our life as an alumnae, also that the vast majority of the alumnae have no longer any current link with the profession. Because we feel that these questions require great consideration and thought we propose that one whole business meeting be devoted entirely to open discussion on the future of the M.E.S. Alumnae and we propose therefore for your approval, the following committee, Mrs. Purchase (Molly Maw), Mrs. Macdonald, (Isabel Callan) and Mrs. Jacob (Lucille Chambers). Mrs. Purchase to act as chairman. The duties of this committee to be:

1. To call and conduct a meeting at the earliest possible time in September for the express purpose mentioned above.

2. To receive any nominations for offices between now and this next meeting."

In closing Elizabeth thanked staff and committee members for all they had done to help. We quote her tribute to Miss Somers, not only because it is so well deserved, but because all who know Miss Somers will agree with Elizabeth....."and Miss Somers who has always given generously of her time and thought whenever called upon. Her wisdom and kindly suggestions have been a great help to me personally, and I wish to pay tribute to her, as a woman who has contributed a great deal to the growth of the many who have been under her guidance, and also to her contribution professionally in the field of Health and Physical Education."

Make up your mind now to attend the Refresher Course which is to be held December 29th, 30th and 31st (until noon) at 415 Yonge Street. Tentative plans are as follows:

1. The course is to be co-educational.
2. It will include:
 - (a) Basketball
 - (b) Red Cross Instructors' School in Swimming and Water Safety
 - (c) General work of a recreational nature.

The Women's Staff and students of the new school will be interested to hear of the presentation to Mrs. Phillips who has looked after the pool and gymnasium at the Household Science Building for many years and who is retiring this year. We quote the "citation":

TO MRS. PHILLIPS

Twenty-seven years ago Mrs. Phillips came here to look after the welfare of staff and students in Physical Education, and a mighty fine job she has done. Each year we have loaded her with a few more jobs; looking after towels or lockers; adding swimming classes in the morning as well as afternoons; putting extra classes in the evenings; not to mention making tea in the afternoons; and through it all she has carried on efficiently and cheerfully.

A number of years ago Miss Coventry decided that we should have a hot plate in order to have boiled water in case of an accident; however, in the back of her mind I am quite sure that she was thinking of the cups of tea that we might imbibe. The hot plate has certainly been well worth while for though I do not remember having to use it for an accident, I am sure that Mrs. Phillips has made us at the very minimum six thousand cups of tea.

Mrs. Phillips - we hope that you will be back to see us often and we assure you as warm a welcome as you have been giving for many years to staff and students who have come back to visit us. We ask you to accept this gift from us all, wishing you all health and happiness and may you now have time to enjoy a well earned rest in your garden in the company of your grandchildren.

NEWS NOTES:

With classes over, results out and things generally settling down to routine once more (except in the office), many of the staff have gone to summer positions or at least to quieter places than Toronto.

Miss Somers as usual has gone to Dennis on Cape Cod, down where the Atlantic breezes blow.

Mr. Chetwynd is again senior supervisor of the Canadian Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety programme in Ontario.

Miss May Walkden, formerly instructor in remedial gymnastics for the women students, writes of attending the International Spring Scientific Congress in Holland. "I had a wonderful time in Holland. The people were so kind and friendly..... They had us up at 6:00 a.m. and we didn't see our hotel until midnight or later. There were some very fine Tambour dances, club drill to music and children's gymnastics for those below par. Their ideas were sound and they showed great enthusiasm.... The bulb fields leave a lasting memory of a gigantic patchwork quilt. The recovery after the occupation bomb damage is amazing. Everyone works full time willingly. Anything is so much better than being occupied, so they have the incentive to make things better. We hope to have the International Congress here or Sweden next year, so I do hope some of you will be able to come over."

Mary Adams Elliott with young Hugh, is living in Bracebridge this summer, while Mr. Elliott has a position with one of the Navigation Companies. She writes of seeing "Iky" Thornton Armstrong and Kay Mackenzie Beers sometimes.

A letter from Vera Gilchrist, 4T6, written last April is still full of interest. She says, "My job has been a building one this year in classes, personnel and facilities... Classes have increased from about 300 attendance a month to over 1600, which shows that girls are ready for classes.... Personnel now includes not only myself but a full time recreational assistant and two, sometimes three, part-time specialists.... The "Y" has been very lucky in getting Marial Mosher, a former C.W.A.C. major who previous to this had been a soloist in the Russian, Folklore and Albertina Rasch Ballet Troupes to act as assistant. She complements my skills so perfectly it is extraordinary.... The Finance Committee is gazing most favourably upon the removal of the balcony - the setting up of a health service consisting of increased facility in medical and posture checks and follow-up plus a sun lamp... We intend that this be the beginning of a health service based upon sound "positive health" principles. Our Hike and Ski Club, 40 strong, has been hiking and trying to ski all winter. Till now we have had to use lodge facilities for week-end accommodation; but this summer, all going well, the "Y" will build its own lodge on Seymour Mountain. "Silhouette for Summer", a reconditioning, three weeks, one hour a day, course for girls and women is taking most of our time. It is amazing what head-gymnastics are entailed in selling exercise to the public. I have had and am having a grand time concocting folders, selling the public our programme!" Vera says she has been learning to fence. "Funny how small the world is - I bought, I think her name was Kay Quan's fencing equipment. She is a Chinese M.E.S. graduate." (Ed.'s note: She refers to Laura Kwan, M.E.S.'38, who is now Mrs. Edward Yee Wing of Baltimore, Md.)

She is feeling much better and thinks she can go back to city life in a couple of months. Shiggy says, "Christmas always takes me back to my happy days in Canada..... Adrienne, Shirley, Phoebe, Jess - all these names are much in my thought." For those who want to write to Shigo, her address is: Mrs. K. Ishimura, c/o Kanich Inouye, 376 Kakinokizaka, Meguroku, Tokyo. Letters may be sent provided they contain no business facts or figures - Parcels may also be sent up to eleven pounds.

We are planning tennis instruction, free "Learn-to-swim" (for 120 youngsters 8-14, 12 hours each), archery, outing club - work with our young adult clubs. Before all that starts though, we have "Skits and Skirts" The programme includes a drama presentation, chorale number, fashion show and some modern dance technique, planned for May 1st and 2nd. A gym. display for my Y.W.C.A. classes and school classes about May 21st and 22nd and our other big venture has been a "Short Course for Volunteer Leaders", 6 nights of 2 hours. Sixty people have attended very regularly and it's been fun and work! The course is sponsored by the Recreation Division of the Council of Social Agencies but since Margaret Hart (the general secretary) is chairman, we've both been working on it. She has carried the responsibility for it all and I consider it my community work."

Ethel Mary McFadzen Tait writes from 17 Plane Avenue, North Rand, Transvaal, that she is teaching this year at Saint Mary's, a private school run by a Church of England sisterhood. She says, "It is a fair sized school with 150 children in the lower school and 180 in the upper school. I find it very interesting working with everybody from kindergarten to High School leaving, but very hard work because I am so unused to little children. I mean, hard work in the preparation." Mrs. Tait also writes, "We have resuscitated an Association called the South African Association of Trained Physical Educationists, and are having meetings once each month. There are eighteen of us altogether in Johannesburg, but we invite to our meetings various people who are doing games coaching or dancing or something in that line, though not Physical Education graduates. Last month a gymnast just out from England, came to one of the private schools here, gave us an evening on the newest trends in Keep Fit, and we had a marvellous time. It does waken one up so, and is so very interesting."

Lorna McLean (Mrs. Terence Sheard) had the leading part in the Heliconian Club play, "Ladies in Retirement" put on at Hart House Theatre recently.

Kay Mitchell is teaching handicraft at the D. V. A. Hospital in Edmonton.

Betty Mortimer, 4T3, writes most interestingly of her trip to Italy: "We spent 9 days in Rome, one in Naples and 2 in Florence. We nosed about in Rome to our hearts content. The Latin we had learned, per force, at school began to sit up and take life. The Roman Forum on the Palatine hill was no longer a picture in a text-book but a real thing. There stood the arch of Titus, huge and magnificent with the Roman lettering standing out as though it had been carved only a few years ago. It was hard to believe. The sculpture and painting and architecture of St. Peter's by Michaelangelo can never be described. We inspected Vesuvius standing threateningly near Naples. We enjoyed a few of the paintings of Florence. Over Whitsun week-end three of us pushed off for Vienna in a horribly crowded train, but it was worth it. Even I, who have never been there before, could see how sadly different Vienna is now from its hey day. All the shops are closed because there is nothing to sell and all food and clothing are rationed. Even so Vienna is a beautiful wide city with the Vienna Woods stretching far off up the hillsides, looking down on the city with the Danube flowing lazily through it."

Margaret Nicholson has an article on "Recreation for the Housewife" in the Spring number of Health, the official magazine for the Health League of Canada.

Muriel Nelles Whyte was in Toronto for a few days not long ago. Muriel and her son Ian are visiting Muriel's father and mother in Ottawa and while there she has been doing some figure skating with the Minto Club. She took part in the Minto Revue 1947 which was given twice in Montreal as well as in Ottawa, and which was built around Barbara Anne Scott. Muriel has also taken up dress designing as a hobby, and is very enthusiastic about it.

Helen Parsons is in the Social Service Department of the Department of Veterans' Affairs and is enjoying her work very much.

Friends of Margaret Pellow, 4T6, will be sorry to hear that she has been in a cast for some weeks, due to an injury to her back. Marg. is at her home, 308 Colborne Street East, Oshawa, Ontario.

It was very nice to have a letter, dated as recently as May 21st, from Kathleen Pepler Hall written from Tanganyika. She sent her best wishes to "all who'd appreciate them" in case the letter arrived in time for the Alumnae Luncheon. Kathleen says, "I don't seem to have much free time. I am on the European Parents Association Committee, represent the Women's Service League on the Ex-Askari (soldier) Committee, help at the African Welfare Centre once a week. John and I are both active in the Dramatic Society and both members of the Horticultural Society, and I haven't an ayah for Christopher, so I find plenty to keep me busy. And I have been doing a voluntary job for the government - inspecting and advising on Physical Education in the European Schools. Now they are asking me to do the same in the African Schools!" Free time, did you say!!!!

Born on May 31st at Regina, to Francis Pyne, Third Year, and Mrs. Pyne (Patricia Annand, ex-'48), a daughter.

Kay Reed has accepted a position in the Physical Education Department of Clark University, Worcester, Mass. "I shall be in charge of a 'dorm' of 25 girls and have the Freshmen and Sophomores each for one class period a week while Miss Hughes keeps the other class with each, and shall be in charge of the extra-curricular activities - badminton, tennis, softball, volleyball, basketball and field hockey. The Women's College is very small, only about 250 girls enrolled, but that to me is one of the nicest things about the position."

Florence Riley Dorsey was married on May 1st to Mr. William Hedley Marsh.
